

GISPEN MOXX

PRODUCT SUSTAINABILITY SHEET

Gispen MOXX phonebooth is designed following circular design principles. This configuration consists of a phone booth sized 90 x 90 cm, walls made of glass and walls upholstered in fabric Kvadrat Floyd. All materials have been approved and are safe to use. This product has a material management strategy in place.

Sustainability facts

- All wood in this product is sustainably sourced
- All parts in this product can be upgraded or replaced easily to meet future need
- Modular product design with standardised components facilitates reuse and customisation
- Product (dis)assembly manual is available

MATERIAL	WEIGHT (GR)	% OF TOTAL
MDF	93.020	37,04%
Glass	82.500	32,85%
Steel	41.785	16,64%
Glass fiber	9.000	3,58%
Wood	8.467	3,37%
Electrification parts*	5.770	2,30%
Aluminium	4.500	1,79%
Wool	2.860	1,14%
Rubber	1.590	0,63%
Polyether foam	1.128	0,45%
Polyethyleneterephlatate	500	0,20%
Polypropylene	41	0,02%
Total	251.161	100%

Lifetime extension, reuse and recycling

We are committed to keeping the environmental footprint of our products as low as possible, so we advise you to contact us when the product is broken or no longer being used. With our Circular Hub, we make sure that the useful life of products is as long as possible.

- Lifetime extension by repair, maintenance or refurbishment
- Taking back for reuse
- Reusing parts and/or materials
- Recycling

Production and packaging

This product was produced in the Netherlands with 100% renewable energy and has been packaged using reusable and recyclable packaging materials.

The product was designed to be easily disassembled.

SPECIFICATIONS

Weight: 251,16 KG

48,33% recycled materials
in this product

59,38% recyclability
of this product

41,55% rapidly
renewable materials *detailed information on electrification is available upon request. Do you want to learn more?

Contact us or visit www.gispen.com